Dedication

During the wonderful years that we have spent here, we have found your time and efforts invaluable in helping to make better men and women of us.

Always you have put your shoulders to the wheel to help us achieve both our educational and common goals. There were times when we felt low in spirit and you lifted us. The example that you set in the classroom, and your qualities of spirit and mind will always be an inspiration to us.

We, the graduating class of nineteen hundred and sixty six, wish to immortalize the years that we've shared with you, and to say "thanks" for all that you have done. With deep esteem, we dedicate to you-the Smithsonian.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE TO THE SENIORS OF 1966

Congratulations to you on the 1966 publication of the Smithsonian which reflects your years at E. E. Smith.

From time to time during the past three years, I have enjoyed the privilege of having many talks with you. I hope that I have impressed upon you my formula for success which is "hard work and good work". A man who does no more than he is forced to do, or does as little as he can be paid to do, is an idle man.

You have sought after and have been provided with the tools of learning and the inspiration to forge a better way of life for yourself and for others. There is no adequate method, it seems, of really measuring the influence of this school on your future. Suffice it to say that our alumni have been in the forefront in leading the continued march for a higher level of intellectual, economic, and spiritual attainment. In practically every phase of life there are Smithites whose lamps were lit here.

You face a period of great tension, difficulty, and danger for our country, our freedom, and our civilization. I challenge you to face it with the firm resolution that our democracy, our religion, and our way of life can never be destroyed except by our neglect and indifference.

We, here at Smith, shall continue in your service with unabated vigor in the years to come. The resources of my office are always at your disposal.

Yours is a splendid opportunity to live a contributory life. I am confident that you will.

BULLS SURPASS PREDICTION

The Golden Bulls opened their season with the prediction of winning five (5) games out of a ten game schedule.

At the beginning of the season, the Bulls had an easy win over their opponents. Week after week, teams fell short of defeating the Golden Bulls. After the Bulls surpassed their predicted season mark, they were competing with the top rated teams in the league. Suffering only one loss entering the Elizabeth City game, the Bulls were on their last leg for a possible Eastern Championship. Fighting to the end, the Bulls couldn't stay out front in order to end the game victoriously. With two games left and one of those being Homecoming, the Bulls went on to prove themselves one of the top teams in the State.

Our Queen

There is none fairer than our own Miss E. E. Smith. Maceo Carolita Smith, member of class 12-2, holds this honor with high esteem. She was chosen overwhelmingly by popular vote. Her attendants are: Gloria Gairy, of 12-1, and Sandra Joyce Purdie, of 12-3.

The week's festivities included: Clash Day, Dress Up Day, Blue and Gold Day, the Pre-Homecoming Dance, and the Homecoming Game.

Theatre in Education

Each year Theatre in Education sponsors a tour throughout North Carolina high schools presenting professional actors in absorbing scenes from famous plays by Shakespeare. During the week of their visit to E. E. Smith, this creative exhibit was displayed in the lobby featuring major works by Shakespeare. Below are the actors viewing the exhibit.

Smithespians

The Smithespians presented two exciting plays this year. "Purlie Victorious" by Ossie Davis was highly acknowledged by the community. Leading characters were Kenneth Carver, Delois Foy, Howard Jenkins, Sylvester Reeder and LaMaurice Hunter. The Festival presentation "Twelve Pound Look" was highly recognized in the Regional and State Festivals. Stars of the presentation were Linda Kerr and Kenneth Carver with LaMaurice Hunter and Keith Graves sharing significant roles.

God's Trombone

The Smithsonian Choir rendered exceptional performances this year, under the new director, Mr. Clinton G. Wilson. Their major performances included: Handel's "Messiah," a joint concert with the J. W. Ligon HighSchool choir, "God's Trombone" by James Weldon Johnson, the spring concert, and the district and state festival performances.

SMITH TEACHER HONORED

For a number of years the Homemaking Department E. E. Smith Senior High School has grown and prospered under the direction of Miss C. L. Holden. Because of her diligent and devoted service, and her vivid portrayal of the Standards and ideals set forth by the Future Homemakers of America, the members of this school chose to name the organization the CLEMENTINE L. HOLDEN CHAPTER OF THE FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA.

Miss Holden, pleasantly surprised, faced a happy and appreciative audience as she accepted a plaque from Cheryle Smith on behalf of the Clementine L. Holden Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America. The plaque read in part: "For untiring service in helping to improve individual, personal, family, and community living."

Miss Holden is a native of Raleigh, N. C. She received the B. S. and M. S. degrees from Shaw University and New York University respectively. She is a valued advisor on many projects and activities of the school and community. Membership in professional organizations include the following: American Home Economics Association, Home Economics Division of the N. E. A., American Vocational Association, and the North Carolina Home Economics Association. Miss Holden has also served as Chairman of Home Economics Teachers.

An effective worker, a respected educational leader, an unassuming but appreciative human being, Clementine L. Holden has made significant contributions to education.

TO THE CLASS OF '66

During this school year, 1965-66, I have been a part of a great and very impressionable experience which I will never forget. I would like to thank you for the trust that you placed in me as president of the senior class and for the fine cooperation that I received from each of you.

As we look back over the past years, I am sure that we can be proud of our accomplishments and forever mindful of our failures. We have learned during these years that the need to strive for greater heights is the foundation upon which we shall build our "Islands of Excellence."

Now, fellow classmates, with heart heavy, but mind filled with treasured memories, I bid you farewell.

Gwendolyn McRae,
President

All Smithsonians have one great purpose, and that purpose is to capture the events and treasured moments that we will one day want to recall. When all members of this class, the "Big 66," move away they will one day want to look back into the good ole days they had here. Recapturing will be no problem for they know these events will always be on file in the Smithsonian '66.

Featured in this Smithsonian were Intramural activities, athletics, and special events, such as Career Day and College Day, and the exhibitions by NASA and North Carolina Natural Gas. These exhibitions show progress made throughout the years from the past to the present, and their hopes for even greater progress in the future years.

E. E. Smith is progressing, for the sounds from its progress bell have been steadily ringing. Since the school years of 1964-66, the alumni has displayed great feats in placing Smith on the North Carolina and National scene. One of Smith's alumni, Deborah Wilkerson, Class of '65, became one of North Carolina's and the nation's first Presidential Scholars; James Raye, Class of '64, became Smith's first "Big Ten" athlete and next year a potential starting quarter-back for the Michigan State Spartans. Stephen McCleod, Class of '65, this year became Duke University's first Negro fraternal pledgee; and our own chemistry teacher, Mr. Archie T. Clark, Class of '50, was named by the North Carolina Section of The American Chemical Society as "North Carolina Science Teacher of the Year" for the year 1964-65.

Smith is now expanding its physical plant with additions of new and beautiful classrooms and other buildings. The hammering and drilling and the persistent pounding have all been welcomed and described as sounds of progress.

Then there is the Smithsonian itself. It too plays a vital role in the progress of E. E. Smith. With the development of new and better cameras and accessories, better layout designs and special photographic techniques, the Smithsonian will also be a part of this great progressive move.
